Common intake, automated eligibility

The MonsterWorks system allows staff to start with common intake through a single, easy-to-use registration, which gathers information one time for use with multiple programs to ensure accurate collection of required federal and state data. The system utilizes this information to create automated program eligibility recommendations, program enrollment and to track activities and outcomes.

Robust reporting

MonsterWorks' purpose-built case management system includes a robust reporting tool that follows state and federal guidelines to capture all required data for WIOA and Participant Individual Record Layout (PIRL), and also provides ad-hoc and local/regional area reporting.

Self-service

MonsterWorks integrates online, self-service, and on-demand tools with one-to-one services - allowing states to powerfully engage job seekers and employers. It also enables regional workforce boards to most effectively serve clients and to support economic expansion and workforce readiness.

Configurable and open

Designed with an open and configurable architecture, MonsterWorks readily integrates with external programs and data sources. The result is a streamlined and comprehensive workforce system with data sharing and reporting capabilities to enable collaboration and visibility among all participating workforce boards, employers, educational institutions, partners, and providers using independent systems.
Why Monster Government Solutions?

As a wholly owned subsidiary of Monster Worldwide, Inc., Monster Government Solutions pioneered online hiring for the public sector 18 years ago, and continues to develop and implement innovative solutions and services that help government agencies to find, hire, and develop their workforce.

Because MonsterWorks is developed by workforce subject matter experts and backed by a parent company, we have the resources and experience necessary to configure, deploy, and implement solutions that are scalable, comprehensive, secure, and reliable.

MonsterWorks delivers:

- A system with the right level of configurability and flexibility that can be tailored to meet the specific needs of users — including employers, job seekers, workforce boards, and state agencies.

- Automated reporting capabilities that can be configured, shared, and exported to other systems and non-system users.

- WIOA reporting and case management tools that workforce boards need to engage and deliver services to workers and employers.

- A sleek design and modern, mobile-first interface to optimize the user experience and is compatible with all devices, browsers, and platforms.

- The capability to showcase a state's own style, branding, and design throughout the solution.
